F. Logos Alumni only

In what year did you participate in a Logos workshop?

G. Further details (section continues on the next page)

If you are involved in a Museum of the Bible Scholars Initiative project, describe the project you have been working on, your role in it, how long you have been working on it personally, and your team's expected date of project completion (100 words maximum).
---	--

In as much as you understand them at this point, please describe your professional and vocational goals (200 words maximum).

What impact has your Christian faith had on your academic studies, and vice versa? Illustrate with examples (300 words maximum).

Please choose ONE of the four prompts and respond (300 words maximum).

1. Write a critical reflection on this post by Joshua Berman: <https://mosaicmagazine.com/essay/2017/07/the-corruption-of-biblical-studies/>
2. Write a critical reflection on this essay by Robin Routledge: <https://legacy.tyndalehouse.com/Bulletin/61=2010/4%20Routledge.pdf>
3. Write a critical reflection on this essay by Larry Hurtado: <https://larryhurtado.files.wordpress.com/2018/04/hurtado-pericope-adulterae.pdf>
4. Read this article by Hugh Houghton and comment on his concluding evaluation on page 399 (beginning with “The trend in research on Latin Fathers away from critical reconstructions...”). Is his conclusion warranted? What are some of the fresh insights one might expect? <https://drive.google.com/file/d/0B-hNnR8UhVITdnRROVZEY2dQTDA/edit>

H. Behavioural code and signature

If I am accepted to Logos, I undertake to treat fellow participants respectfully and without discrimination, and to abide by professional academic norms in all interactions with staff and fellow participants. I will uphold high standards of behaviour at all times, including during scheduled academic and social events and when mixing with participants in free time; in professional venues and in residences in use by Logos; in online or in in-person interactions.

I understand that the workshop organisers will treat any reported lapse in behaviour seriously and that such reported lapses will be investigated by the organisers' designated officer whom I will be told about at the start of the workshop.

I understand that, if I am found to have failed to act respectfully and professionally, I will be required by the organisers to change my conduct if I am permitted to remain an event participant. In the case of more serious lapses, I understand that I and any family members with me may be required to leave Logos and/or any associated residential accommodation. I understand that any sanction imposed by SCIO does not preclude sanction imposed by another authority, including my employer or law enforcement authorities.

If I am accepted on the workshop, I undertake to comply with any Covid-related guidelines in force by the national or local authority, the workshop organisers, and venue providers.

By signing, I indicate that I assent to the behavioural code just stated, and that the information in this form is, to my knowledge, accurate and true.

Guidance

1. Please send an email to logos@scio-uk.org with the subject line '[your name] application to Logos in Washington, DC' attaching your completed application form.
  2. Please ask each of the three referees/recommenders named on your application form to send their reference/recommendation to logos@scio-uk.org by the deadline.
  3. Please send an academic transcript(s) for undergraduate and (where appropriate) graduate studies. An unofficial transcript is sufficient. This may be sent by email to logos@scio-uk.org with the subject line 'Application to Logos in Washington, DC transcript for [your name]'.
- Privacy notice: your application details are stored and managed by SCIO, in compliance with GDPR regulations according to United Kingdom law. Details are available at www.scio-uk.org/privacy where you are identified as a participant on a project (not a student on a programme).
  - The deadline for application is 11:59 pm GMT (British time) on Sunday 21 March 2021. Applicants are responsible for ensuring that references and transcripts are received by this deadline.
  - For those who require a visa to enter the USA, SCIO and Museum of the Bible will assist in visa application (e.g. provision of letter of invitation), but the visa is the applicant's responsibility.
  - Incomplete applications may not be considered.
  - Application decisions will be reached and notice sent on or about 8 April 2021 with confirmation of attendance by successful applicants required by 15 April 2021.

More information is available at www.scio-uk.org/logos-workshop.

Please email logos@scio-uk.org should you have questions.
